Spanish Crisis and Rear-Admiral Beardslee on Conditions in Hawaii-He Finds no Real Opposition to Annexation

ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—The first neeting of the Cabinet since the return of the President from Massachusetts was held today, and was attended by every member except Secretary Gage, who is not in Washington. Foreign affairs occupied the greater portion of the time given up to discussion, though prosecution of the government's case against the Union Pacific Railraad Company, also ment's case against the Union Pacific Railroad Company also came in for a good deal of consideration. Indeed, it is said that the only action in the Cab-inet today was in the interest of clos-ing this issue, and it can be stated that the details of the plan of the government have been arranged at last.

The Spanish crisis attracted much attention, and was discussed at some length. For some reason Minister Woodford has still left his governwoodford has still left his govern-ment officially unadvised of the recent happenings in Madrid, and nothing has been heard from him since his in-terview with the Duke of Tetuan, the Spanish Minister of Foreign Affairs in the last Cabinet. This fact com-pelled a reliance upon the newspaper reports of the recent important events in Spain

In no case had there been the slightest exhibition of a purpose on the part of the Japanese commander to attempt any coup, and there were constant exchanges of visits between the officers of the Naniwa and of the United States warships. Speaking of the reported opposition to annexation, the Admiral said today that it amounts to little. The substan-tial business men of the islands favor annexation, with few exceptions. The exceptions may be able to work up some opposition among the natives, but nothing of any consequence, in his opinion, can come of it. The interest of some persons in annexation is apathetic, but they accept it as the best horn of a dilemma.

Substance of the Note Presented by Gen. Woodford.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 1 .- A Washington special to the Times-Herald says:
"It is now possible for the Times-Herald to give, not the exact text of the famous Woodford note to Spain, but a fair statement of its substance. now-celebrated and much-discussed document simply expresses on the part of the United States the hope cussed document simply expresses on the part of the United States the hope that the war will be brought to a close as speedily as possible, but there is no date fixed when the consummation is to be reached; and the interests of spain no less than the interests of the United States, the interests of humanity and the interests of the world at large are reasons why the war should be ended with the least possible delay. "And with that in view, acting as a friend of Spain, because of the great stake which the United States has in Cuba, financially and otherwise, because of the annoyance to which the United States has been put by maintaining a patrol over and preventing the sailing of filibustering expeditions, and because civilization opposes war, the United States tenders to Spain its good offices to act as a friend between the mother country and her rebellious colony in the hope that she may be able to effect a settlement and bring the warfare to a close.

"This is all there is in the note. There is not the faintest suggestion of this government forcing upon Spain her good offices if she does not care to voluntarily accept them, nor is there any intimation that the war must be brought to an end within a certain time, or that Spain must answer this note within a fixed time."

by ex-President Harrison. [ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.] NEW YORK, Oct. 1 .- Former President Benjamin Harrison is quoted in an interview on municipal politics in the World as saying: "Of special importance are the safe-

Scotland have assumed each the control of its street-railway systems and its lighting plants, as well as its waterworks. The results of this public ownership of great public enterprises have been exceedingly satisfactory and instructive. I am inclined to consider municipal ownership as the best means to secure to the people the cheapest and best service.

"Of course, the effects of competition between private enterprises are not to be lost sight of as far as they increase quality and lower prices. But the usual methods of selling franchises outright or in receiving for them a royalty seldom gives to the people more than a tithe of what the people themselves later return. The bigger the price, the larger the royalty and the greater the cost of a ride or a gas jet. It is a species of tax."

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 1.-Today was again something of a record-breaker in the matter of new cases. They cropped up in all directions, but up to 6 o'clock the death rate was still low. The fever is rapidly spreading in many directions, but the large majority of cases are proving to be of a harmless type. The weather is warm, and the conditions excellent for new cases, but the death rate has fallen considerably below that of 1878. Two deaths were reported today, and twenty-five new cases. The authorities continue to keep the water-works plugs open, and every gutter is filled with running water.

The fever here has, of course, not been declared epidemic, and for that reason physicians are disinclined to report yellow fever. A number of doc-tors said tonight in a formal protest, that if their names are reported in connection with yellow-fever cases their practice would suffer. Nobody would send for them if they have anything to do with yellow-fever cases.

INTERETING FACTS.

Food and Health Questions Dawson City.

[BY THE TIMES' SPECIAL WIRE.] UNALASKA Sept, 22,-(Via steamer North Fork to Tacoma.) Oct, 1.—[Special Dispatch.] Prof. P. C. Richardson of Seattle is among the returning passengers on the North Fork, and he brings some interesting facts from the Klondyke district. He left Puget Sound on the 25th of July, going over the pass from Dyea and reaching Dawson City August 12. There he re-mained six days, and took the steamer Bella for St. Michaels, reaching there August 25, just a month after leaving

When Prof. Richardson arrived at Dawson City August 12, he found a camp of nearly six hundred tents, and possibly a hundred cabins in course of construction. Very little preparations for winter were being made, most of the people failing to appreciate the rigorous weather they must undergo. In the city nearly everyone seemed to be employed; money was plentiful, but feeling that, owing to the scarcity of provisions, great destitution and suffering must prevail during the coming

In the opinion of Richardson the food problem at Dawson is but one of two serious conditions that will exist there. The health of the people is the other. Dawson itself is built on a swamp, at the mouth of the Klondyke River, which in winter is frozen solid. and in summer is thawed to a depth of about a foot. No provision has been made for drainage. There are few if any outhouses, and all offal is dumped at the back doors or in the streets, and when the warm sun of May and June comes out at stems inevitable that disease should rage. Already, dur-ing the months of July and August, there were fifteen deaths from typhoid fever. The quality of food which the more fortunate ones have been able to procure in sufficient quantities is such that it will leave its mark. Scurvy has resulted in many cases, and men, weakened from its effects greatly, leave the country for a season to recuperate their bodily strength.

Richardson is of the opinion that the Stewart River will be the stream to receive attention next. A number of men are already there, and he thinks a stampede may follow. There is, however, no question but that the El Do-rado and Bonanza creeks are marvel-ously rich, and during the time that he was at Dawson reports from the pros-pects on Hunker Creek indicated that it might be equal to the others. Many of the men who have made money expect to come out on boats billed to leave there the first and second week in September, but unless the river es so that the boats can get across the Yukon flats, there will be no means of getting them down the river. There al hundred of these men forts of the company now are being directed, not to getting in sufficient supplies, which is regarded as a hopeless task, but to getting empty boats up to Dawson in order to bring the Rope in the True Believers-The Platform Reaffirms the Chicago Pronunciamento and Denounces Tammany.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—At the city nomination convention of the Demo-cratic Alliance of Greater New York, Henry George was unanimously nomi-nated for Mayor. The nominating speech was made by Charles Francis Adams. The nomination was greeted with enthusiastic applause. The platform says:
"We deemed it essential that the Democratic party of Greater New York should reaffirm the Chicago platform; should reaffirm the Chicago platform; pledge itself to the policy of municipal ownership, and operation of franchises and to the principles of direct employment, instead of the contract system.

The action of the city convention of September 30 is clear to many. Tammany and her allies hide away the national banner of Democracy, and are ashamed to march under its folds. The Benedict Arnolds of last fall who deserted to the enemy on the eve of battle are to be restored to places of honor and friendship; the franchise-grabbers are to retain their clutch on the city public ways by Tammany's aid and connivance. Thus Tammany and her allies separate themselves from the great Democratic party of the nation and must be looked upon solely as a local body of unprincipled spoils hunters, unfit to sit in the councils of the party whose doctrine they ignore, and whose honor they betray."

The platform also declares in favor of municipal

A Conference Committee was appointed to confer with all others in sympathy with the Henry George movement and to arrange for a mass meeting. Then the convention adjourned until next Monday night.

It had printed and sent to agents in China blanks in Chinese and English, a prescribed by the Treasury Depart ment, to meet the case of merchants and students coming into this country for the first time. Collector Jackson says that he has more than once made representations to Washington as to the manner in which the Chinese restriction act is being evaded.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 1.—Five of the passengers of the stage coach which was robbed near Milton yesterday have arrived in this city. They are Clarence Ackerman, A. Amaloff, Michael Nessella, Mrs. Hannah Abrahams and M. Singer. Two of them, Ackerman and Amaloff, were wounded.

Ackerman is at St. Luke's Hospital with a bullet lodged immediately under the cuticle of his left breast. The seriousness of his wound has not been definitely determined, but it is the belief of Dr. R. F. Grey, the resident physician of the hospital, that he will not die.

The same bullet which cut a hole through Amaloff's wrist, cut its way nearly clean through the body of Ackerman. There is a possibility, Dr. Gray says, that instead of traversing a straight course, the bullet struck one of Ackerman's ribs on the right side, deflected and passed around his body at the back, until its force became spent an inch below the left nipple. The stories of the robbery told by the passengers merely confirm the story already sent out by the Associated Press.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SPRINGFIELD (III.,) Oct. 1,-In race that was witnessed by at least sixty-five thousand people, Star Pointer this afternoon not only maintained his reputation as the king of pacers by defeating Joe Patchen, but he also lowered the world's pacing record in a race by half a second, making a mile in 2:00½, the record in a race having been 2:01, which Star Pointer made on September 18 at Indianapolis, when he defeated Joe Patchen. Star Pointer was greeted with tremendous cheers by the assembled thousands as he passe under the wire, and the announcement of the lowering of the world's pacing cord in a race was received with umultuous applause.

When the two great pacers made their appearance they were greeted with cheers. They got a nice start, Patchen having the pole, but after go-ling a few hundred feet, Pointer broke badly, and before he recovered, Pat-chen was about an eighth of a mile ahead of him. Patchen finished the heat in a jog in 2:14, with Pointer about three hundred feet behind.

Star Pointer was given the pole in the second heat, and the two horses started even, but Patchen soon broke and lost a dozen lengths. He gained on Pointer toward the three-quarters and overhauled him, McCleary holding his horse back. Down the stretch it was a pretty fight between the two, but Pointer maintained his lead, and passed under the wire half a length ahead. Pointer made the first quarter in 0:30, half in 1:03, three-quarters in 1:36½, and the mile in 2:06, the last quarter being made in 0:29½.

The third heat was a wildly exciting one, and was a race for blood from the start. After three attempts, the horses got off the ground. Pointer soon took the lead, and at the first quarter he was a length and a half ahead. The black pulled off some toward the half, and when that was reached. Pointer was but three-fourths of a length ahead. Then Patchen lost and gained again, and at the three-quarters was not quite a length behind. When near Patchen fell behind and Pointer won by five or six lengths. The time by quarters was 0:29%, 1:00, 1:30%,

The record for 1897 for stallions was also broken by William Penn in the first heat of the free-for-all trot, he making the mile in 2:07%.

The poor lyric and dramatic artists of Greece have every prospect of starvation staring them in the face. Badly enough off in times of peace, they have been reduced since the war to a condition of absolute misery. When hostilities opened the government ordered all theaters to be closed. Reduced to the last extremity the artists recently demanded the authorization of the state to continue their performances, promising only to present tragic dramas and operas, and to foreswear operettas and farces entirely as unbecoming the period of national calamity. Ralli, the president of the Council, has answered that though the deepest sympathy is felt for the artists' sad plight by the government, their demand cannot be acceded to, because the unfortunate soldiers who suffered so many privations on the battlefields of Epirus and Thermopylae "might be indignant and even revolt at seeing a revival of theatrical performances, which, although tragic in their nature, are none the less a form of amusement." So the poor Greek singers, actors and musicians must wait until peace is concluded before they can earn their daily bread. And in the mean time they are starving.

Christine Nilsson has just made a trip to Sweden, her native country, where she visited the exposition at Stockholm. Her visit was a constant succession of proofs of public admiration, and crowds of people waited in the street for her to pass. TULARE LAKE RESERVOIR.

A Big Enterprise in Which Los Angeles Capital is Interested.

[Lemoore (Kings County) Leader:] Much has ben said lately through the press concerning Tulare Lake as a reservoir to supply water to 1,000,000 acres of land on the west side of Kings, Fresno and Merced counties. That the scheme is a big one goes without saying, but we are informed that C. D. Davis, civil engineer. who is at the head of the enterprise, has been successful in other large undeftakings, he being said to be the father of the Fresno Flume and Irrigation Company, which floats millions of feet of lumber from the top of the Sierra Nevada Mountains to the town of Clovis.

One day this week a well-known electrician was in Lemoore on business, but whether his business was in connection with this scheme or not we are unable to say. However, we were informed that the scheme was much farther advanced than is generally supposed. When asked his opinion in regard to the proposed irrigation scheme, he said much of the preliminary work had been completed, but considerable is yet to be done before work can be commenced. He said that Mr. Davis was correct in his plans; that this is the only practicable way to irrigate the west side lands.

The most important question involved would seem to be the equation Big Enterprise in Which Los Angeles Capital is Interested.

was correct in his plans; that this is the only practicable way to irrigate the west side lands.

The most important question involved would seem to be the equation between cost and income—a feature not to be overlooked. We suppose, however, that Mr. Davis has taken all these things into consideration, as the success of the scheme depends upon the amount of profit to be made on the capital invested. While a large sum of money will have to be spent, there is much to be gained should the scheme prove a success. In the first place, a high levee will have to be built around Tulare Lake, and this levee will have to be riprapped, on the east and south sides at least, with rock or gravel on the inside to protect it from the waves. It is then proposed to build a canal 300 feet wide from the San Joaquin River to Tulare Lake to keep the lake, or reservoir, well filled with pure water. The west side irrigating ditches are then to be built. The reservoir, as it is planned, will hold a two-years supply of water for 1,000,000 acres of land, and be available for use twelve months of each year. It is stated that about haif this land can be irrigated by gravity from the reservoir when it is full. The water is to be pumped to the higher land by centrifugal pumps run by electricity.

We are also informed that an electrical contents and incommend that an electrical care in the contents and the con by centrifugal pumps run by electricity.

We are also informed that an electrical company has agreed to put in an electric plant, at a certain point, and build a line of poles and wires to transmit the necessary power to the pump stations for $1 per acre. We asked if this doffar per acre meant the annual cost of pumping water, and were informed that it means the purchase price of the plant, poles, wires and dynamos; that when completed and turned over, with capacity to do the work, the annual cost of maintaining the plant would be nominal, as most of it is subject to but little, wear, and would last almost indefinitely when once built.

We have reason to believe that some of Mr. Davis's strength lies with capitalists in Southern California. We are informed that one of the leading capitalists of Los Angeles, C. M. Wells, and who, we understand, is a representative of several eastern capitalists, visited Fresno on this same proposition last May, and we understand sts, visited Fresno on this same prop-osition last May, and we understand his same party owns upward of 10,000 acres at or near the point where Mr. Davis proposes to tap the lake.

On Wednesday of this week Mr. Davis, accompanied by six assistants, started out for the lake, and will survey the region thereabouts. Mr. Davi has been in communication with the Secretary of the Interior with a view of gaining official permission to use the waters of the lake for irrigation, and it is believed that he has received satisfactory assurances such as to in-duce him to proceed with the survey now in progress.

A ONE-TRACK RAILWAY. The First of Its Kind on the American Continent.

Can Continent.

[San Francisco Call:] At the town of Caborca, in the Altar district of Sonora, Mex., construction has been commenced on what will be, when completed, the first and only one-rail tramway or railway in operation on the American continent. This novel railway will run from San Salinas to Caborca, a distance of twenty-five miles.

The tramway is a French invention, owned by the Monorail Portatif a Niveau du Sol, or Single-rail Portable Tramway Company of Paris. M. A. L. Caillett of Paris, who is one of the engineers of the company, is superintending the construction of the railway at Caborca. According to M. Caillett the single-rail railway was invented only about five years ago. He states that he never heard of it before then, or heard that anybody had tried ft but the French company for which he is or heard that anybody had tried it but the French company for which he is or heard that anybody had tried it but the French company for which he is engineer.

It is, M. Calllet says, very effective on long hauls through a mountainous country where the grade is irregular. The car can be operated at a very small cost, as one mule or a donkey can haul a load weighing five tons, providing the road is fairly level. The track costs only $500 a mile, ties and all.

A French mining company, Compania Mina San Salinas de Altar, of which M. Lejeune, a well-known Parisian, is manager, is to operate the road that is at present being constructed in Sonora. This company has some very rich gold and salt mines at San Salinas in the Altar district, while the offices and smelters of the company are located at Caborca, a distance of twenty-five miles from the town of San Salinas.

The monorali tramway will be used in conveying gold ore from the mines to the smelter, and in transporting passengers and provisions from Caborca to the mines. The car is to have a capacity of thirty tons per day according to the contract between the mining and the tramway companies. The contract calls for the use of only one car. By putting on more cars a capacity of 550 tons per day can be reached.

"We have," said M. Caillett, "another order in Mexico in addition to the one we are now filling in the Altar district. We have not placed one of our tramways in the United States, but before I leave for France I may try to introduce the monorali into some of the mining districts. It is not known in this country and the only notice it has ever received was a short one, which appeared not long since in a New York paper."

THE MEXICAN TRADE.

Enterprise of Los Angeles. Trade to the Southward.

[San Francisco Call:] Merchants and manufacturers of Los Angeles are with the enterprise usual in that city devising means for extending their trade with ports along the western coast of Mexico. An experimental trip is soon to be made with the steamer Albion, belonging to the Lower California Development Company, and it is announced that particular attention will be given by those on board the steamer to the trade conditions and possibilities of points on the Mexican coast which the vessels of the Pacific Mail and Pacific Coast companies do not touch. Trade to the Southward.

The subject is one that has long occupied the attention of the progressive men of Los Angeles, and considerable information has been already collected in regard to it. The trip of the Albion, therefore, will not be an experiment projected in the dark. The promoters are sanguine of good results, and are quite confident that by rightly-directed efforts it will be possible.

Los Angeles Daily Times.

A Brooklyn Mattnee.

A New York man says that to appreciate thoroughly what it means to play to an empty house one must travel to Brooklyn to attend a Wednesday matinée. At the Columbia one day at a performance of "John-a-Dreams," a school girl sat in an orchestra chair and there was a young man in the front row of the balcony. The scene is the deck of a yacht, and as Henry Miller emerged from the cabin and gazed into the empty gulf before him, he spoke his first line: "The sea is purple. Have you two noticed it?"

An instant later a voice came from the balcony: "Well, I don't know about the lady down stairs, but I can see it all right."

Col. John Hay's Poems.

Col. John Hny's Poems.

[London Spectator:] The world knows Col. John Hay best by his "Pike County Ballads." Few things, indeed, are more remarkable in the history of our modern literature than the way in which this handful of poems took the English-speaking world by storm. They came, they saw, they overcame—after the manner of all true poetry which touches the most human side of men and women.

The poem called "Banty Tim" is in our opinion the most heroic of Col. Hay's ballads. The lines describe how Sergt. Tilman Joy, a Northern veteran, explained to the white man's committee of Spunky Point, Ill., that he was not going to have his negro friend, Tim, driven out of the village:

Why, blame your hearts, jest hear me! Col. John Hay's Poems.

of the village:
Why, blame your hearts, jest hear me!
You know that ungodly day
When our left struck Vicksburg Heights, how ripped
And torn and tattered we lay.
When the rest retreated I stayed behind,
For reasons sufficient to me—
With a rib caved in, and a leg on a strike,
I sprawled on that cursed glacee.

Lord! how the hot sun went for us,
And br'lled and blistered and burned!
How the Rebel bullets whizzed round us
When a cuss in his death-grip turned!
Till along toward dusk I seen a thing
I couldn't believ for a spell;
That nigger—that Tim—was a crawlin' to n
Through that fire-proof, gilt-edged hell!

The Rebels seen him as quick as me, And the bullets buzzed like bees; But he jumped for me, and shouldered r Though a shot brought him once to kness.

knees;
But he staggered up, and packed me off,
With a dozen stumbles and falls,
Till safe in our lines he dropped us both,
His black hide riddled with balls. So, my gentle gaselles, thar's my answer, And here stays Banty Tim;
He trumped Death's ace for me that day, And I'm not goin' back on him!
You may rezoloot till the cows come home, But ef one of you teches the boy, He'll wrestle his hash tonight in hell, Or my name's not Tilman Joy!

Or my name's not Tilman Joy!

This is a poem which goes straight to the heart with the sacred comradeship of the battlefield. The phrase, "You may (rezoloot, i. e., pass resolutions), till the cows come home," is alone enough to make the poem a memorable one. It puts in a sentence that Anglo-Saxon scorn for the oppression of the lawless mob, or the lawless majority, which is so sound a barrier against the excesses of a too triumphant democracy. It is the plain man's very unmistakable way of saying, "The people may be my governor, but not my tyrant."

The Prune in Commerce.

[Iowa State Register:] The prune has long been a boarding-house joke, but they take it seriously in California. It is estimated that $20,000,000 is invested in prune orchards and in prune-curing establishments, and that prune-curing establishments, and that the output is 100,000 tons annually. The growing gathering and drying of prunes is an interesting California spectacle. As soon as the fruit ripens, large sheets are spread under the trees. The trees are then shaken violently and the ripe fruit falls on the sheets. This is repeated on some trees sheets. This is repeated on some trees for twenty days before all the fruit is gathered. The prunes are first washed in running water, then dipped into lye water to break the skins and then into hot water containing syrup. They are then spread on trays in the then into hot water containing syrup. They are then spread on trays in the sun, three days sufficing to cure the fruit, after which they pass through a sweat-box and thence into storage for sale. The various processes give work to thousands of men, women and boys, and the prune industry alone begins to rival the gold industry of the State.

begins to rival the gold industry of the State.

There is a little tariff lesson in the prune industry. As short ago as 1887 we imported from Europe 92,000,000 pounds of prunes. That same year California produced less than 6,000,000 pounds of the dried fruit. In 1892 for the growing trade of Los Angeles and San Diego.

Hood's Pills easy to operate. 25c.

The movement is one in which the State may well be interested, for there is an opening not only in Mexico, but in the whole region to the south of us for a large expansion of our trade. California is a producer of many articles of general use in those countries, and is capable of becoming the producer of many more. There ought to be a market there for a wide variety of articles manufactured in various parts of the State, and at prices that would justify an expansion of the industry that produces them.

Nearly the whole of the Mexican attempts to open a way for their goods to those markets, and have achieved considerable success. Enough has been attained, at any rate, to encourage further efforts and there will be a strong influence exerted to turn to this country much of the southern trade that now goes to Great Britain, France or Germany.

With that eastern movement California should join. The enterprise of Los Angeles and San Diego is certainly well timed. The voyage of the Abloin will be watched with close interest. It may prove to be a new Argosy and open to the cities of the South a new field for commerce and golden enterprise.

Fruit Notes.

[Byron O. Clark, in California Cultivator:] Many of our most valuable fruits have come to us from Japan, and a strange fact to which I have not yet found an exception and an almost ready to accept as a rule, is that all these Japanese fruits need to be picked and ripened from the tree or plant to develop their best qualities.

The Leconte pear is a fairly good fruit, and so is the Keiffer Hybrid (a Japan cross) when properly picked and ripened. In fact there is no pear, not even a Bartlett, that I enjoy as much as a well and properly ripened Keiffer. Instead of being the tough, flavorless fruit that most people consider it to be, it is one of the juiclest and most luscious; the transformation resulting from knowing how to ripen it.

The Simon plum (P. Simonii) is so bitter as to be unfit for food if allowed to remain on the tree to color and ripen, while if picked before coloring and covered with its white bloom, giving it quite the color of a greengage or other green colored plums, and placed in a cool room, it will ripen to the deepest bright red color, the handsomest of all plums, and become so fragrant as to scent a large room with a single specimen. It is the most luscious of all the plum family to eat from the hand and extra fine for canning. The Kelsey and all other Japanese plums with which I am acquainted require the same treatment to be at their best.

The Peen-to or flat peach is improved by picking while hard enough to separate from its fruit stalk. If ripened on the tree the flavor is quite good, but better ripened in the house. It is impossible to separate a ripened specimen from the tree without breaking the skin, which, when ripe, will cling to the branch, leaving the peach torn at the stem end.

We have enjoyed the Mountain Rose, a white peach introduced from the East a few years since, very much this season. It ripens before Foster and early Crawford, and the quality is quite like the old and well known George IV. It is the best of its season for family use, and the home orchard is not complete without it.

Another excellent peach for drying and canning is the Crawford seedling, very much like late Crawford, but better quality, does not split at the pit, good bearer and a very thrifty, vigorous tree. This peach should supersede the late Crawford. In all plantings it is so much better and is so much like the latter in appearance that it will pass for it. I would suggest it be called Crawford improved, as the name "seedling" attached to a fruit is misleading to many people.

Garfield is another excellent peach and ripens about with the Foster, but is larger and of the best quality.

Mr. Bonine of Lamanda Park, informs me he finds the Lovell to be a much better peach than Muir, being yellow to the pit and of finer flavor than the Muir, is symmetrical and the roundest peach known. The tree is a more thrifty grower than Muir and a good bearer.

HAYSEED LEGISLATION.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 30.—[To the ditor of The Times:] Holding up the circus man for an exorbitant license fee seems such a simple and expeditious method of raising revenue that it is not surprising that it has been engrafted into the ordinances of many western towns. There are two classes to whom the "cinch" oppeals as being an efficient guide to morality and at the same time a scourge for the unrighteous and worldly.

1. The purists, who regard any form of anusement as intercourse with the devil, of course are delighted with any measure which will either diminish the quantity and quality of the pleasure afforded, or will enhance the cost of it.

PULLMAN'S STREETS.

The City of Chiengo to Assume Control of Them.

[ASSOLATED PRISS DAY REFORT.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—The city of Chiengo will probably take possession of the streets in the town of Pullman, Corporation Counsel Thornton has decided that the public has the same right in, on, and under these streets, that it has with other public thorough fares in other cities. The city has decided to give Chicago control of ten or fifteen miles of improved streets in Pullman.

The opinion has just been sent to Commissioner of Public Works McGam. It is positive, definite and tief. It holds that an actual planting or written dedication to the public is not necessary to make the streets justic property, for the reason that the Pullman company has treated them as pathle taoroughfares for many years, and public accommodation and private rights would be materially affected by denial of the continued use of the privileges of the thoroughfares.

A legal fight with the Pullman Palace Car Company and the Pullman Land Association, both of whom are interested, may ensue. The company officials claim the sole jurisdiction over the streets, and up to the present have not been disturbed in their rights or had them disputed. Commissioner McChann a few weeks ago took up the question of authority, and it was on his recommendation that the opinion was given. Jurisdiction over the streets includes the right of the city to grant operation privileges.

THERE'S A GOOD TIME COMING.
There's a hustling in the factories, a bustling in the mills.
And in the workshops now you'll hear the steam hammers and drills:
The farmers are a-smilling 'cause their crops are of the best.
And North. South. East and West again with good times we are blest.
All businesses are booming, and they say that in the fall.
There's sure to be a lot of work and money for us all.
The price of labor even now has risen here and there.
And every honest working man will soon have cash to spare.

Of course the working classes have their wants to satisfy.

And when they have the wherewithal they're always quick to buy.

Bishop John P. Newman and the veterans of the Methodist Conference, many being turned away unable to obtain even standing room. Commander A. C. Shafer presided, and to the guests of the evening delivered a fervent address of welcome, complimenting the muscular Christianity and patriotism of the Methodist clergymen who took an active part in the civil war, and concluded with glowing tributes to the memory of the many generals whose pictures appeared upon the walls of the hall.

After the singing of "When the Last Roll is Called," by a selected choir. Comrade Rev. J. B. Holloway, president of the Veteran Association of the conference, responded. His remarks were replete with the more happy incidents of army life, bringing frequent applause and laughter from the old veterans. He felt privileged to speak for the body of men he represented as one of the twenty-one in the Methodist Conference who were mustered out. Rev. J. H. Comrade Rev. A. B. Morrison delivered an address commendatory of the patriotism of the Methodist ministers, stating that 30 per cent. of the Illinois conference, to which he belonged at the breaking out of the rebellion, were in the war, and related reminiscences of some of them. It was not the marvel that so many were killed in the war, but that so many escaped. He gave a few personal recollections of the end of the conflict, and of the return to "the girl left behind," concluding with a tribute to the Women's Relief Corps. "Some people need to be told of the war yet," he said, "but not those here at this reception."

Capt. J. A. Osgood sang "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground" while the audience arose and joined in the chorus.

Tom Barnes recited a war poem, "Matilda Jane," and responded to two encores, after which the audience joined in singing "Marching Through Georgia."

Comrade J. W. Hyatt read an original poem written by him for the occasion, entitled, "Let There be Light," after which Comrade Rev. T. W. Linden, president of the Veterans' Association of Central California, made a few remarks, including an incident of Cold Harbor.

It was a matter of much regret that Bishop John P. Newman was unavoidably absent, but Rev. Halloway made an apology for his absence.

After another song by Rev. Henry, "The Old Man Dreams," and a few factious remarks by Comrade Pittenger upon reading his own oblituary on a soldiers' monument in Ohio, the audience dispersed with the singing of "America."

gas will cause the decomposition of solid masonry is receiving much atten-tion from the City Engineer's office. Ever since the disintegration of the ent work in certain portions of the outfall sewer was reported several months ago, the matter has been the subject of earnest inquiry, but without success as to the real cause of the trouble. Means whereby to stop the waste have been adopted, but the true cause is as yet unknown. If the city would authorize a chemical eacherial eacherial cause is as yet unknown. If the city would authorize a chemical analysis it might throw light on the subject.

The outfall sewer which conducts most of the city's sewage either to the ocean or to some of the large tracts of land between here and the ocean where sewage is used for irrigation has a large number of manholes at various points along the line. Starting near Agri-cultural Park is a section of wood siphon the midde and lowest portion of which is constantly filled with sewage. which is constantly nied with the miles in length and runs to Hyde Park. put on. But it goes to prove that we have stopped the disintegration and softening by ventilation. As soon as my investigations are in shape it is my purpose to ask the Council to have an analysis made of the decomposed mortar and also of the sewage.

"I have received numerous communications from engineers and engineering societies anxiously inquiring for more detailed information concerning the report which I made to the Council on this matter some two months ago, which report they got from the daily press. It is the first instance on record, as far as other engineers and myself are aware of, where brick and cement have been damaged in this manner in a sewer. I may add that this is the first instance on record where an attempt has been made to maintain a sewer with all the manholes and wentilating points hermetically sealed. There is no occasion for any public alarm, for no vitally serious damage has yet taken place, and there is no reasonable prospect as far as I can see that any will take place in the future." "How about the people along the line of the outfall sewer whose protests caused the authorities to order these manholes sealed up?"

"They will have to get along the same as the people living within the city in front of whose property the outfall sewer passes. The outfall passes along Jefferson streets carrying large volumes of sewage. The sewers on all these streets are ventilated through the manholes with perforated covers. There is no chance for the gas to accumulate, as it is being all the time diffused into the surrounding atmosphere."

MISSING CHECK BLANKS. "Another very suspicious circum-stance was the discovery of a check stance was the discovery of a check book with 199 checks torn out of the back with no entries upon the stubs. Later I found a blank check in the waste basket with my signature upon it in Bird's handwriting. I was satisfied then that the missing blanks had been used by Bird in practicing my signature."

Mr. Griffith admitted that he had frequently allowed Bird to draw checks for small amounts in his favor to obstain money with which to pay small bills that had accumulated in the office, but that he (Griffith) always signed them.

Then followed a protracted disc. Then followed a protracted discussion between counsel over a motion that Mr. Griffith be ordered to produce in court all his redemmed checks, including those drawn to the order of Bird. Deputy District Attorney McComaswas sustained in an objection on the ground that there was no necessity of producing three or four thousand checks in court as there were over a dezen already in evidence bearing admittedly genuine and alleged forged signatures.

The court finally ruled, however, that the cross-examination of Mr. Griffith should be continued till 2 p.m. in order that he might segregate the checks "Never mind now, Mr. Griffith." It was Bird who interposed. "We don't want to hear anything about those blasted flowers." and the defendant twisted about nervously with a look of supreme disgust on his features.

Mr. Griffith was asked if he had ever made a demand upon the bank to have them make good the amounts paid out on the forged checks, ito which he replied that he had not. He would do so, however, as soon as the Bird case was disposed of. He did not desire to, have a civil suit interfere with the criminal proceedings.

Justice Young failed to see the matter in that light, and ordered Bird to be held for trial in the Superior Court with bonds at $2000.

Bird scowled almost audibly as he beard the decision. He had a law book in his hands, and throwing it violently upon the table, grabbed his hat and strode heavily out of the courtroom in charge of a deputy constable.

An opinion of Judge Deady of Oregon is quoted in which it is held: Nor do I think that citizens of this State (Oregon,) as the plaintiff and decayed were, can purposely go beyond its jurisdiction, and not within the jurisdiction of another State, as at sea, and there contract marriage contrary to its laws. Such an attempt to be joined in marriage is a fraudulent evasion of the laws to which the citizen of the State is subject and owes odedience, and ought not to be held valid by them."

"In the case at bar," Judge Allen concludes, "the plaintiff admits that the place where the contract was entered into was selected by him for the purpose of evading the laws of the State of California in relation to marriage, and yet he modestly prays a court of the same State whose laws he has sought to evade, by its solemn decree to join with him in giving force and effect to that attempt to evade the law. To whipsaw a boat out of small timber, such as is found nott is a very small concern, and a boat suitable to carry 4000 pounds costs now from $600 to 4750. To whipsaw a boat out of small timber, such as is found near Lake Bennett, is a long, tedious job, and would make it too late now to proceed down the rivers. Snow is now falling heavy on the summit. The rain in that country has been incessant; not over three or four pleasant days in thirty. The enormous number of horses jassing over the trails have rendered them almost impassable. The black mud has been churned by horses' feet till it is four feet deep, and sharp, ugly rocks with it that cut the legs of the horses render them useless in a short time. Those that have tried to hurry through have lost their horses first, and an outfit without horses might as well return. There are a great many returning now; 200 men came back to Seattle on September 28, and Bundreds more will follow. There are many who will return in the spring, or about February I, and go over the smow, starting up the river from Shaguay, and if the cable is adjusted over the summit of the Chilcoot Pass at Dyea, many will go that way. I expect to go in that way in the spring. It is just this way: Those who do not return will winter on there in the timber. They will have to tray there from now till Pebruary I about four months more they will have to tray there from now till Pebruary I about four months more they will have to put in a fresh supply. Hundreds of outfits are spoiled. The heavy rains have wet all evaporated fruits and vegetables; the beans are swelling, and the incon is rancid. Haren purchased in Seattle in many cases had only been smoked a few hours. The rush for it took all the well-cured bacon in a few days. per and attend to your horses. Where there are 1500 to 2000 horses on a narrow trail, blocks occur, horses are falling, packs get loose, and delays occur of sometimes hours at a time, which renders your traveling slow. Dead horses are seen everywhere—under rocks, between large boulders, on top of rocks, in the deep mudholes, and on the side of the trail. The moss on the summit kills horses very fast. Most packers put nosebags on their horses to keep them from eating this moss. The pinkeye is prevalent here. It is too hard to pack hay forty-four miles, so horses past the summit are fed grain only, and they don't last long. They seem to go crazy and walk on places where there is great danger; they drink water continually at every stream.

"I will just say here that, although the Dyea or Chilcoot Pass is the best and shortest trail in the fall season, my opinion is that the Skaguay trail is the best in February, but Skaguay will always be the town for business. When I first went there only tents could be seen, and just one small shack. Now the town is all built up, and lots are selling at $500 each, all within five weeks. The gamblers are at work, and not suppressed by the townspeople. Wharves are being built. A great many people are building log through on the snow in Ferbuary, and storekeepers and restaurants are doing a good business."

ORPHANS' HOMES.

for in Los Angeles.

Inquiries have been made of late coneerning the number of homes for orphaned and abandoned children no open in Los Angeles, and their location. The largest and oldest of these institutions is the Los Angeles Orphans' Home, at the corner of Yale and Alpine streets. This home is now in its sixteenth year of existence, and is a large and well-conducted establishment. It is designed to shelter orphans, half-orphans and abandoned children. It is essentially an industrial home, where children are trained in the rudiments of useful trades, and it is a temporary home. Permanent homes for full orphans are found as quickly as possible, and the surviving parent of each half-orphan is expected to give all the aid possible to its support. The place is public and non-sectarian.

An amendment to the cattle laws of Arizona, already a book full of themselves, has been made by the Live Stock Sanitary Commission. It requires that all calves slaughtered or shipped must first be branded, unless accompanied by their mothers. The needs of such a law are obvious, yet the requirement is a great inconvenience to cattlemen who are shipping calves that are really their own, and a formal appeal as to the validity of the law was made by the stockmen. A clerk of the Supreme Court has at last been secured. There has been no dearth of good men to fill the office, as the number ranged at various times from three to a dozen applicants. The trouble has been on the part of the judges, who, with so many candidates, were further complicated by the fact that four of themselves had to agree on one man. The man has been foand, and he too, is from Ohio. Lloyd Johnson is his name. Court business has been seriously hampered by the late clerk refusing to act, one lawyer having threatened to write Atty. Gen. McKenna about it.

A deadly contrast may be found in two items of news from the Indian reservation. One is to the effect that the Board of Missions has supplied the lacking $300 to complete the Presbyterian chapel there, and that regular services will be held thereafter. The other is: "Thursday night the Indians on the reservation had a glorious time, and tiswin was as free as water. There was so much of it, and the noble red men were so thirsty that the limit was, removed on their capacity, and all hands got gloriously drunk. In fact, said an eye-witness, there was not a sober Indian in a hundred."

A peculiarity of blasting powder is that it frequently delays its moment of business until a man comes down to see why it hadn't gone off. Then away it goes, and so does the man. Judge Meyers, an old-timer Justice of the Peace, has often complained of the hard times in the justice business that have come on in these latter days of dull peace and sobriety. When the case got before Judge Meyers he decided that the case was one for a civil proceeding, and discharged the prisoner. Three soldiers had an encounter with a nice, tender, juley calf in the Rosemount country, and had taken the calf prisoner, when reinforcements came in the shape of two hardy vaqueros, who gave the blood-curdling "cowboy yell." No quarter would have been given the soldiers had they been caught, not even a quarter of the veal, but they executed a brilliant retreat down in a cafion, intercepting the rest of their command soon after. Capt. Davis, in charge of the troop, not approving the guerrilla warfare his men had practiced, turned them over to the civil authorities. They were brought here and by valiant swearing made their escape from their enemy, the law. Being "broke," a chronic condition with $13-a-month soldiers, the cattleman generously paid their expenses back to the post. Pima county has a bad opinion of calf-killing cases, anyway. One of them cost the county a matter of $10,000 or $12,000 a few years ago.

The law "to encourage prospecting" enacted by the last Legislature, prescribing a 50-cent fee for assays at the university, has encouraged some local assayers to go out of business. The ubiquitous Wetmore took the matter before the last grand jury, and that body passed resolutions condemning the law, but at latest reports assays were still 50 cents. For a fact the charge is ridiculously low, and it hasn't encouraged prospecting to the extent of a five-cent piece.

OPENING MEETING.

LARGE GATHERING OF MEMBERS OF FRIDAY MORNING CLUB.

President's Address-Glances Backward and Forward—The Club's Purpose and Responsibilities. Plan for a New Clubhouse.

The Friday Morning Club assembly room was filled with a large and interested gathering of members at the first meeting of the season yesterday morning. The platform was occupied by Mmes. J. F. Sartori, S. S. Salisbury, C. M. Severance and B. C. Whiting.

The morning was devoted to an open-ing address, very admirably written and charmingly delivered, by the new president, Mrs. Sartori, followed by brief but unanimously favorable remarks from various members regarding the proposed new clubhouse.

After a few introductory remarks, the president said in part: "In determining president said in part: "In determining our present position a glance over the road by which we have come and a thought for the direction toward which it may trend is always necessary.

"It is not so long ago that the Friday Morning Club was popularly supposed to be composed of women with particularly short hair and equally aggressive ideas, who, anxious for notoriety, had larly short hair and equally aggressive ideas, who, anxious for notoriety, had, determined to rid themselves of their duties and responsibilities as wives and mothers, and had banded themselves together for the purpose of inducing other women to do likewise.

"It was supposed to contain two classes—the 'strong-minded, with all the opprobrium usually attaching to that title, and the extremely weak-minded.

"In short, the Friday Morning Club had to meet and overcome the same misconception and prejudice that most of those women's clubs which were organized on similar lines have faced.

ganized on similar lines have faced.

"Today I think we may safely congratulate ourselves upon occupying a very different position. This fact has been especially impressed upon the board within the last few weeks, for it has had many gratifying proofs of the really enviable position in which our club stands—a position of influence and substantial power which Justifies the highest hopes for our future advancement and usefulness.

"For this change there are two reasons. First, foremost and always has

"For this change there are two rea-sons. First, foremost and aiways has been, the careful and dignified policy consistently followed by the club. It would hardly be possible to over-esti-mate the advantages we have derived, for we have thus built up for ourselves a strength and a character which will, pose to which we may turn our hand. "The other and secondary reason for this change in our status is to be found in the greater consideration in which women's clubs are held all over the vorld.

Dwelling on the advantages to be derived from women's clubs, the speaker said that it was not information so much as development that was sought —the development that comes from —the development that comes from actual contact with varied individuali-ties and ideas. "The average woman has little oppor-actual contact with varied individualities and ideas.

"The average woman has little opportunity for any vital association with her kind. Outside of her home, her acquaintance and her knowledge is usually hedged by her church and what she considers her social position. On both planes she meets only those who are most like herself in belief, in tradition and in experience.

"It is in that complicated organization which women are pleased to call 'a club' that she finds the best means for development on what is distinctly her social side—social in the sense of sociological, or, more broadly, human.

"It is there she finds her true relation to the world at large. In a club whose members are drawn from no one circle she learns to form and express her own opinion clearly and courteously, and to listen calmly to opinions widely different from her own, valuing them because she recognizes that they are perhaps based on a widely different experience. She learns to consider herself of value to the commonwealth, and, unconsciously, it may be, is training herself to take part in the civic life of the future, for that she should and will take such part is no longer gainsaid. Whether that part shall be an active And direct one, or whether she may not better attain the end desired by taking a more passive but no less influential role is yet to be determined. In any case she must be prepared to enter into larger and more impersonal interests than she has heretofore done. "If this be true, the work of the woman's club is of great import, even though it is often ill-directed and ill-advised, and the benefit to the State is somewhat as well as to the individual. "Is it not of infinite value to the social body that a half of its members which has formerly been a more or less inert mass, carried forward and onward chiefly by the impetus furnished by the half, should become itself a leavening power? May not these be the seeds that are germinating in this vague but constantly increasing club movement?—"If, then, the purposes are great be built, and setting forth with evident pleasure the encouragement that the plan had received both within and without the club.

Mrs. Margaret Collier Graham was then requested to read the plan for the organization of a woman's clubhouse association, drawn up by the committee of which she is a member.

"Many members of the Friday Morning Club and their friends, after favorable discussion, desire to present in a association, drawn up by the committee of which she is a member.

"Many members of the Friday Morning Club and their friends, after favorable discussion, desire to present in a definite form a plan for acquiring premises specially adapted to the uses of that organization. Since all the members of the club might not wish to participate in such enterprise, it is preferable to adopt the plan frequently employed by the Masonic and other fraternal organizations of creating a separate building association, to be controlled, if possible, by the fraternity, and yet financially distinct from it. Thus, it is believed feasible that control of a woman's clubhouse association may be retained by membership of the Friday Morning Club. While a majority of the stockholders in the building association should, if possible, be members of the Friday Morning Club. it will yet be advantageous to procure subscriptions from outsiders to whatever extent requisite to insure success. The plan contemplated by the advocates of this building enterprise is to procure a lot and to erect improvements which in all essential details will meet the approbation of a house committee, selected by the Friday Morning Club. That committee will cooperate in respect of the plans, specifications, cost and other detail in such a manner as to enable the building association to come within acceptable terms of leasing to the Friday Morning Club. The latter will, by means of lease, control the management of the bulding, select tenants for such portions of the premises as may be capable of sub-letting, and govern the renting of the main hall for social, musical, literary and other purposes. Thus a certain fixed char, acter will be established for the premises, largely impressed at all times with the personality of the Friday Morning Club. The revenue received will, go largely toward paying the sums stipulated in the lease.

"The general method of attaining the above frethod is as follows:

"A subscription list will be circulated among the members of the Friday Mo

The committee includes Mrs. Gra-nam, Mrs. R. N. Bulla, Mrs. J. F. Sartofl and James H. Shankland. Mmes. Osgood, Severance. Whiting, S.'S. Salisbury and others expressed heir hearty indorsement of the plan.

This was brought on by N.C. Carter, formerly of Lowell, but now a resident of Sierra Madre, Los Angele county, Cal. Mr. Carter's house, "Carterhia," is situated on a slight cleva tion overlooking his vineyards, abou ternia, its situated on a siight elevation overlooking his vineyards, abou a third of a mile distant. The ex-hibit, while largely from Mr. Carter's Pesco grapes; lemons, peaches, French prunes and Kelsey plums. The exhibit, while largely from Mr. Carter's grounds, was supplemented by a few choice contributions from his neighbors. The grapes, which in our climate must be grown under glass, are raised in California in the open air. The bunches are of large size and handsome appearance, notwithstanding their long jaunt across the country. The Rose of Peru and Pesco are wine grapes and sell at home for $15 a ton. The Tokay is the main shipping grape and is seen at fruit stands everywhere in the North. The Muscatel, a light colored fruit, is the raisin grape, and is dried in the open air. The price of the grape is $20 a ton and it can be grown at a profit at 1 cent a pound. A part of the Tokays were contributed by W. S. Andrews. The French prune looks like a New England plum and is never shipped East except in its dried state. The Kelsey plum, a fine large fruit of excellent flavor, is, said Mr. Carter, destined to be the plum of the future. The Lemon Cling peaches were handsome specimens and were from the orchard of E. E. Valk of Alhambra, Cal., and Mrs. Valk sent a few jars of fruit preserved by a new process which retains all the flavor of the fresh fruit, Part of the Muscatel grapes were from the vineyard of Dr. E. H. Packer of Lowell, who has twenty acres in Sierra Madre which he has never visited. Mr. Carter was plied with numerous questions by a constant audience, all of which were cheerfully answered. During Mr. Carter's stay in the East, till October 20, he will give, in various places, stere-opticon views of California scenes and attractions.

An orderly here came up to Sheridan, saluted, and said: "Col. Forsyth of your staff is killed, sir." "It's no such thing," cried Sheridan. "I don't believe a word of it. You'll find Forsyth's all right." Ten minutes later Forsyth rode up. He had been mistaken for Gen. Winthrop, who had failen in the assault. Sheridan did not even seem surprised when he saw Forsyth, and merely said: "There, I told you so," a peculiar trait of Sheridan's character which never allowed him to be disturbed by camp rumors, however disastrous.

He had no sugar when he struck the camp on the lake, and later it was discovered that he had obtained some, His pack was searched and a side of bacon containing the private mark of some other Klondyker was found. He had tried to buy provisions without success. The miners held a meeting around a camp fire and unanimously voted to make an example of Martin. The young fellow was awakened and told that his time had come, A slip knot had been made at the end of the long painter of a boat and the noose was put over Martin's head.

"Boys," said Martin, with faltering voice, "you know how it is when a man has mortgaged his all, starts for Klondyke and sees that he can't get there. If I am not hung my life is not worth much to me anyhow. I've got a thousand pounds of stuff at Skaguay, and I'll promise on my life to carry it in here for you."

"Enough of that. It would not save you if the stuff were here."

Martin half ran and was half dragged [Seattle correspondence Chicago Inter

Martin half ran and was half dragged down to the shore of the lake. It took less than a minute to lash two slender pines dressed for masts in a forked upright and drop another mast from a rock on the bluff over between the forks.

'May I write a message, boys?"

"May I write a message, boys?" asked Martin.
"Be quick about it," was the answer.
Martin took a letter from his pocket and kissed it. Then he tore it up, stooped, pulled off his rubber boots and, placing the paper on the sole of one, wrote in the darkness the following:

and, placing the paper on the sole of one, wrote in the darkness the following:

"Hoping that with the money I might make in the Klondyke sacrifice would go out the door and love return through the window, I left you. Kiss Ted, but never tell him.—Gid."

He held the note out to the crowd, saying: "Give this to the newspapers."

"Hurry up. Now, all together," spoke the leader of the crowd.

In the morning Martin's body was seen turning first one way and then back like a kettle dangling before the fire, his hands tied behind him with a packstrap.

ire, his ha packstrap. Hanna's "Soldier Record."

[Toledo Blade:] That irreconcilable free-silver sheet, the St. Louis Repub-lic, loses no chance, real or imaginary, to fire a shot at Mark Hanna. Here is Why did the G.A.R. banqueters at Infantry, and served with the Army of the Potomac. That he was not wounded or killed was owing to the bad marks-manship of the organized Democracy of the war period.

But the Republic editor evidently wrote his squib from reading the headlines over the telegraphic account of the meeting of the Grand Army. Had modestly disclaimed any right to call the Grand Army men "comrades." He drew a distinction between those who served, like himself, in the hundred-drew a distinction between those who served, like himself, in the hundred-days' service, and those who bore the burden of three years of battle and campaigning. It was this modest utterance which elicited hearty cheers from the comrades of the Grand Army.

And now will some one kindly tell the voters of Ohio what John R. McLean, the Democratic aspirant for the Senatorship, was doing in war times? Was he in the service, fightling to maintain the Union of the States, or was he helping his father, on the Cincinnati Enquirer, giving aid and comfort to the rebeillon? It may be well to recall that that loyal Democrat, Gen. Rosecrans, commanding the Army of the Cumberland, while he allowed openly rebel papers, such as the Charleston Courier, Richmond Dispatch and Chattanooga. Rebel, to circulate, forbade that privilege to the Cincinnati Enquirer, because, as he stated, it was doing the work of a sneaking traitor.

A Mice of Mme, Sans Gene.

A Niece of Mme, Sans Gene. [New York Tribune:] It is said that an attic in a back street of Paris in an attic in a back street of there is living a niece, and the only living descendant, of the famous Mme. Sans Gene, Duchess of Danzig and wife of Marshal Lefebre. The blanchisseuse of the Directoire period had a ounger sister, whose daughter, bemarest, works in a tobacco factory and lives in desolate poverty at No. 9 Rue de l'Exposition. She receives all visitors most courteously, talking freely of that celebrated past with freely of that celebrated past with which her relatives were connected. The tales handed down to her of her Great-aunt Catherine she details with evident pride, while among her treasures are some bits of gold lace and a few buttons, which, she says, adorned the marshal's uniform. She displays a large correspondence, which thoroughly establishes her claim as a next of kin to the Emperor's washerwoman.

Value of a London Name.

[Springfield Republican:] Apropos of the alleged intention of Worth of Paris. Poole of London, and other dressmakers and tailors to establish branches in this country to recoup them for the damage done them by the baggage limitation of the Dingley tariff, it is observed in the New York Times that that plan has been tried before—under different circumstances, and that the experimenter, a celebrated London dressmaker, found that once she was established here, where anybody could get her service, the patronage of the rich Americans was lost, because what they wanted was not good dressmaking, but the London impress on their costumes, and an exclusive possesssion of her talents. The enterprise failed—and so, thinks the specialist, will the enterprises of Worth, Poole and the rest, if they essay them.

AN INVESTMENT GUIDE. A neat amphlet of 100 pages has been issued y the well-known New York bankers,

Henry Clews & Co., under the name of an "Investment Guide." It gives much useful information regarding rail-road and industrial bond issues, New road and industrial bond issues. New York stock quotations, bank clearings, real estate mortgages, imports and exports, etc. Among other interesting items given in this pamphlet is the cost of membership in various exchanges, which ranges from $10 in the New York Mercantile Exchange to $20,000 in the New York Stock Exchange. In boom times, seats in the New York Stock Exchange sold as high as $34,000.

COMMERCIAL. BEET SUGAR. That was an impor tant statement recently made by Sec-retary of Agriculture Wilson, after his from a trip through the coun to the effect that within ten years try, to the effect that within ten years this country will be exporting sugar. This means that we shall first have to produce sugar to the value of over $100,000,000 a year, that is now im-ported, before we can have a surplus for export.

$100,000,000 a year, that is now imported, before we can have a surplus for export.

The Secretary believes that the beetsugarbusiness will be immensely profitable in all the States, from the Gulf of Mexico north to the Canadian border. It is true that the sugar-beet may be raised throughout the greater part of the United States, but whether it may be profitably raised on a large scale is another question. Certainly, there is a great difference between various sections, when it comes to the quality of the beets produced, and the length of the season in which they may be grown. Orange trees may be grown in every county of California, but it is well known that the section in which orange culture is profitable is very limited.

When it comes to the raising of beets with a big per centage of sugar, and a long season in which to grow them, no section of the United States can compare with Southern California. When the United States shall be producing beet-sugar to the value of $100,000 a year, it will be found that a large proportion of this saccharine wealth will come from the seven counties of Southern California.

AUSTRALIAN ORANGES. It appears that Australia has not given up the intention of shipping oranges to England, as was reported in some quarters. Recent arrivals of Australian oranges in London were well-timed. Boxes containing from 130 to 150 oranges sold at from $3.50 to $4 each. The oranges are reported to be well-colored, and of fine flavor. They reached the destination in good condition. The oranges referred to are navels, and a London journal states that they were equal to any of the California navels.

GENERAL BUSINESS TOPICS.

BOGUS CALIFORNIA BRANDY. One good result of the agitation car-ried on in the press of California against the recent shipment of bogus against the recent shipment of bogus brandy from San Francisco to London has been the issuing of a new circular of instructions to collectors and other government officers. It provides that operators of bonded warehouses shall file a list of all articles they intend manufacturing, with the names and quantities of the ingredients. Goods manufactured for export must be marked in strict accordance with the formulae, and with the trade name of the goods, and shall bear no other designation than those stated. No mark or designation of a fraudulent misleading or deceptive character shall be allowed. This is good so far as it goes, but be allowed.

This is good so far as it goes, but it does not go far enough. As the

it does not go far enough. As the California Fruit Grower pertinently remarks:

"Regarding brandy and wines in bond, these regulations, if enforced, will effectually protect the honest producers of the State. As an illustration—the barrels containing the bogus brandy referred to would, under these rules, have been marked as follows: 'California brandy; brandy one part. California brandy; brandy one part. or spirits seven parts, water four parts.' It is not difficult to see that such a mixture, so branded, would have but a sorry chance of being marketed anywhere at a profit. The new government regulations may be expected to do good as far as they go, but do they go far enough? How about those products that will go into the vaults of the large wholesale liquor dealers and rectifiers? It looks as though the government was protecting the foreign consumer of California brandy and wines agains sophistication, but doing little or nothing for the home consumer."

SANGABRIEL ELECTRIC POWER. An Azusa correspondent of the New York Electrical Review furnishes that journal with an account of the latest progress made with the various electric enterprises on the San Gabriel River. The correspondment made a trip to the headwaters of the San Gabriel and gives the following information in regard to what he saw:

"We find that the Crystal Lake Company, which takes up the waters shed from the mountains about Pine Flat, turns them into Crystal Lake and thence by tunnels and pipes to power-house on Sycamore Flat, some nineteen miles from mouth of cañon, via North and Laguna forks, has completed surveys, built diverting dams and completed a wagon road to site of power-house. Their further plans have not yet been made public.

"The Electric Pdwer Company, has completed its surveys of pipe and tunnel lines, and is now locating a pole line down the river. One canal will start at the mouth of Fish Creek, twenty-five miles from mouth of cañon as the river runs, pick up the waters of Iron Fork and the main river and deliver them through three miles of ditch and pipe and two and a half miles of tunnel at the head of Suzanne Cañon. Coldwater and Cattle creeks will be delivered into the main canal by a three-mile lateral. The second canal will run from Bear Creek, by way of Sycamore Flat, in two miles of tunnel and six miles of pipe and canal to the same place at the head of Suzanne Cañon. The drop here is 650 feet, and is expected to furnish 4000 horse-power. From here the waters are carried about three miles below and dropped 300 feet, developing 300 horse-power.

"The Electric Power Company has soon as the specifications can be drawn from the surveys. This company has unlimited capital, both in its membership and through personal connections, and will make things move lively. The rights-of-way have been granted over the reservation, and the papers will be here in a few days.

"The San Gabriel Power Company and conducts it to the mouth of the cañon, dropping it into the irrigating ditches. T their many tunnels, the longest of which is 1600 feet, being worked from both ends, night and day, in eighthour shifts. The California Construction Company, which has the contract for the work, will complete it some time during the month of March next.

"When these efferprises are carried through, and everything looks favorable now to their early completion, and with the Redlands Power Company's plant in operation, what more reasonable to expect than that the entire socialled kite-shaped track from Los Angeles through Pasadena, Ausa, North Pomona, San Bernardino, Redlands, Riverside, Santa Ana and to Los Angeles again, comprising 150 miles of heavy steel track, be electrized? There has been more than one conference between the leading spirits of the power company and the Santa Fé officials on this subject."

NEW YORK MARKETS. Shares and Money.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—The bulls made their first aggressive stand today for over two weeks, and after a heavy decline in the earlier part of the day, they came to the support of the market, checked the decline and brought the closing prices very generally above last night's level. There was nothing in the news of the day that could be counted more favorable than that of the preceding day or two and a sharp stiffening in the rates for call money during the afternon might be called a distinctly unfavorable factor. But it had no effect in preventing the recovery and the close at practically the high-est prices of the day. Either this was because the 4-per-cent. rate which was asked was considered artificial and manipulative, or because confidence was felt that it would result in the prompt importation of gold to relieve any probable stringency. A further lowering of % per cent. in the actual rates for demand sterling to 4.80%, encouraged this view and the probability of early engagements of gold for imports freely talked about today. The market was surprisingly irregular, prices of some stocks moving up and down by wide jumps, apparently entirely independent of any general tendency in the market. In the early trading, the raids of the bears on special stocks in each group were successful in depressing the particular group and the whole list by sympathy. Soon afterwards, sustained buying on a large scale became evident and heavy covering movement by the bears followed. Buying orders by the commission houses also had added to the strength of the market becoming dull whenever the bears succeeded in checking the advance, and showing a lively increase wheneves the course of prices turned upwards. The railroad earnings reported during the days continued to increase. A striking result of the recent sharp decline in the price of silver was shown in the August statement of the Mexican Central. While the gross earnings showed a facrease of $135,478. This was down in the Augus [ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

New York makes settlements for a large part of the country and the daily average including this city was in September $206,364,900 against $134,300 in 1893, against $133,30,000 in 1894, $122,833,000 in 1893, and $176,327,000 in 1894, $122,833,000 in 1893, and $176,327,000 in 1894, $122,833,000 in 1895, and $176,327,000 in 1894, $122,833,000 in 1895, and $176,327,000 in 1894, $122,833,000 in 1895, and $17 mates of 590,000,000 busness is about 200,000, 000 bushels more than would be required for food and seed, leaving the smallest stocks for six years without replenishment, was fol-lowed by decrease in foreign buying and lood and seed, leaving the smallest stocks for six years without replenishment, was followed by decrease in foreign buying and caused weakness. Yet western receipts for four weeks were 27,825,554 bushels against 24,094,044 bushels for the same weeks last year, and Atlantic exports, flour included, are 16,325,118 bushels, against 8,176,364 bushels last year, and Atlantic exports, flour included, are 16,325,118 bushels, against 8,176,364 bushels last year, while Pacific shipments are also very heavy and corn exports continue over years and corn exports continue of the price of wheat has declined 5 cents and cornearly 2 cents for the week. Dismai reports have been frequent, but the market shows more faith in predictions of a large yield and the percentage has declined a quarrer of a cent for the week. Turning from a speculative market to a productive industry, the chainge in tone is striking. All industries are pushed to increase working force with occasional rise in rate of wages by the growing demand. This is largely for the replenishment of stocks, but dispatches show that the retail trade at nearly all northern points continues to expand and dealers well know that increase of working force and of wages insures a larger distribution of goods. Numerous appeals for the speedy delivertes of goods disclose more rapid distribution, and in the textile factories the works are prevented from taking as liberal orders as they might on account of doubts of ability to fill. In woolen goods the advance in prices has been small compared with the rise in wool, which is helped by stronger prices at London. The dealings mainly speculative, have amounted to 66,501,109 pounds in four weeks, 48,572,200 being domestic, but recent sales of very large lots suggest that profit-taking may have begun. Slower to gain, because less affected by replenishment of dealers' stocks than other industries, the from manufacture has been pushed to further expansion by growing demand for finished products, which has caused a little further expansion

Bradstreet's Review.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Bradstreet's Financial Review will say tomorrow that reactionary influences have prevalled in the stock market this week. The check in the bull campaign which declared itself last week has apparently discouraged the public and liquidation of outside holdings has taken the place of commission-house buying. Equally significant was the absence of support from the pools and large speculators. There have been a number of very favorable developments. Raliroad earnings in particular present very encouraging results, the August not earnings of the Burlington, Pennsylvania, the dend will be declared on the preferred stock next week. Sugar shared in the general describe and Rock Island and Chicago Gas were weak.

Bradstreet's tomorrow will say that general trade is marked by increased activity in wool, hides, iron and steel, and their manuafectured products, but business in the quarantined districts remains at a standstill, and at all except a few northwestern distributing centers, in spring wheat States, where business is relatively most active, there is a check to the demand for dry goods, hats and clothing. Favorable reports come from a region extending from Knoxville, Tenn., to St. Paul, Minn., and from Omaha to Milwaukee. The tendency is to increase the estimates of the wheat crops and increase the probable yield of cotton. Wheat (flour included) exports from both coasts of the United States and Montreal this week alightly exceed those of last week. The total aggregates 5,924,246 bushels, against 5,808,225 bushels last week, 4,218,296 bushels in the week a year ago, 2,613,865 in 1895, 3,243,100 in 1895 and 3,189,000 in 1895. The total number of business failures in the United States for the nine months is 9833, decrease of 13 per cent. from the corresponding total last year, just 6 per cent. more than in 1894, and 11 per cent. fewer than in the corresponding period of 1893. This year's failing corporations, firms and individuals reach $118,48,000 in 1893.

BOSTON, Oct. 1.—The Boston Commercial Bulletin will say tomorrow of the wool market: "This week beats the highest record on sales, on account of the heavy purchasing on the part of the manufacturers of most territorial wools. All prices are steady and in sympathy with the London auctions. Australians have advanced, though the Boston market is 4 cents a scoured pound below the prices established at the recent advance in London. Over one hundred bales of choice Geelongs were sold by one house at 34 cents. This is the highest price paid for Australian since the passage of the Wilson Tariff Bill. Even Adelaide wools now cost 61 scoured. Territorial staple fine now costs 55 cents. The sales of the week are: 10,759,000 pounds domestic and 4,164,500 foreign against 7,055,000 pounds domestic and 789,000 pounds foreign for the same week last year. THE COUNCIL DECIDES TO CALL SEWER-BOND ELECTION.

Will not be Held, However, for me Months - Hotel Improvements-Two Runaways Which Result in Slight Injuries-Notes and Personals.

PASADENA, Oct. 1.—[Regular Correspond-ence.] The members of the City Council met in executive council this morning to ake action upon a proposed sever bond elec-tion, and decided to submit the question of g bonds for a complete system of sew-to the people. The election will not, er, be called for some time, for two ering, to the people. The election will not, however, be called for some time, for two reasons, first, because it is thought best to await the decision of the Supreme Court on the San Luis Obispo case as to the legality of bonds payable in gold coin, or lawful money, and, second, because before an election can be called there must be complete plans and specifications drawn by the City Engineer, according to an opinion of the City Attorney presented to the Council. City Engineer Clapp was instructed to make surveys and prepare the necessary specifications, and that in his estimation will require at least two months' time.

It was suggested that to hold the bond election at the same time as the city election would save expense and also secure a larger vote, but City Attorney Arthur stated that that could not be done as the law specifically states that at a tond election no other propositions shall be submitted to the people.

The board finally decided to call a bond election and a resolution to that effect will be introduced at some not distant meeting of the Council.

New Branch Line of the Santa Fe to be Built.

SAN BERNARDINO, Oct. 1.—[Regular Correspondence.] Local officials of the Santa Fé state that the proposed branch line from San Jacinto to Lake View, a distance of about ten miles, will be built at once. Incorporation papers were filed two years ago, under the name of the San Jacinto, Lake View and Northern Railroad, but so far no work, further than a survey, has been done. The road will extend in a northwesterly direction from San Jacinto, the present terminus of the branch running west from Perris, to Lake View, the center of the thriving new colony of the same name. Later the road will be extended from Lake View to Alessandro, on the main Temecula line, thus forming a loop, with Alessandro at the point of beginning and ending, the position occupied by San Bernardino on the Kite-shaped track. The road will open up a large section of farming country, which the big irrigation enterprises, in operation or contemplation, will soon transform into one of the richest sections of Southern California. It is hoped to have the road to Lake View completed in time to handle the bulk of the winter tourist travel.

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 1.—[Regular Correspondence.] Merchant Patrolman Cooper of this city just now wears a crestfallen appearance, instead of his natty, new uniform. The primary cause of the change was an item which he read a day or two ago in The Times. This was to the effect that one of the trained monkeys had escaped from Main's circus and that a suitable reward would be paid for its capture and return to the owner. Wednesday night, or rather in the early hours of Thursday morning, Patrolman Cooper, in uniform, new and trim, was pac-Cooper, in uniform, new and trim, was pac-ing that portion of his beat which extend over a portion of lower Fifth street. Meeing a policeman friend, the two halted moment to exenange the courtesies of the carly morning, when some small object darted almost under their feet and scampered up a dark, narrow starway. The cop friend thought it was an abnormally large wharf rat, but Cooper suddenly remembered the item he had read in The Times, and knew it must be the Dale (to look after their mining interests in that district.

A ball game will be played Sunday afternoon at Athletic Park between the Woodmen and the Commercial nines, the proceeds of which will be donated to the Orphans' Home. The advance agent of Main's circus, which will show in San Bernardino Saturday, spent Friday in town and found a peek of trouble to digest. The Athletic Club grounds he found to be too small, so another site had to be found, which feat had not been accomplished by evening. The circus, however, will have to be conveyed by wagon from Colton to San Bernardino, the Southern Pacific motor line not being able to handle the cars. Cooper suddenly remembered the item he had read in The Times, and knew it must be the monkey. He therefore abruptly left his brother in blue, as he thought of the reward on the side, and gathering the new cape from his shoulders, he gave pursuit, apringing up the stairs three steps at a jump. Within a few feet of the top, the creature was overtaken, and Cooper, leaning far forward, with cape ip hand, pounced upon it, throwing the cloth around and about the frightened little animal that he might gather it in his arms and bear it to the owner, but horrors!—it was a polecat.

Detective 'Harry Johnson of Los Angeles returned from Lower California a few days ago, bringing with him the word that Morales had sailed from Ensenada for Mazatlin Island. The officers here smile over this story.

Morales is known to be a very bad character. He is a crack shot and he always keeps his gun where he can place his hand upon it in an instant. The bravado he has exhibited in repeatedly crossing the line and visiting his wife at Pala, this county, stamps him as a reckless desperado, and shows that he does not fear the officers.

THAT GLOVE CONTEST.

The fifteen-round bout Thursday night between Kid O'Brien of Los Angeles and Harry Jones of this city, demonstrated the fact that the Kid is not only a vigorous fighter, but a stayer as well. In the bout with Jones the Kid seemed distressed after the first few rounds, while Jones looked every inch a winner, but the Kid got his second wind and forced the fighting vigorously the remainder of the bout.

Jones aapparently was outclassed, but he stayed in the ring and took severe punishment from the Kid in order, as he stated, to save his friends' money. The Kid would have knocked Jones out if he could have landed, but Jones prevented it only by his cleaver ducking and an occasional sprint

Interesting Session Closes the Teachers' Institute.

SANTA BARBARA, Oct. 1.—[Regular Correspondence.] The Teachers' Institute will close with today's session, after the best attendance and keenest interest ever manifested in the county. Prof. Bailey's lecture on "Our Social Instincts," was delivered last evening to a large and appreciative audience. A contraifo solo by Miss Marian E. B. Titt, and a recitation by Harr Wagner, supplemented the lecture. In addition to yesterday's announced programme, Miss Anna Klett and Miss Sue Spurick rendered songs, which were encored.

Ed Winsby acted as referee and gave entire satisfaction. There were four preliminaries preceding the event of the evening, which were unusually interesting from a local standpoint. The four rounds by Price and Sanders, both young colored athletes, was the grand stand event of the evening.

HOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.

Miss Sue Spurlock rendered songs, which were encored.

The programme for this morning's session includes a talk by Miss Ball on "School-room Education," an address, "A Child Word Hero," by Mrs. Thomas G. Clark. Root, will discourse upon "Physical Culture." In the afternoon, "The Art of Questioning," will be presented by A. G. Balaam; "The Spirit of History Study," by H. N. Caldwell; "The Five Functions of Life, as Outlined by Spencer," Prof. C. Y. Root: "Discipline, Social and Moral, "Frof. T. P. Fire Alarm System Needs Attention.
Sewer Bond Delivery.

SANTA MONICA, Oct. 1.—[Regular Correspondence.] The electric fire alarm system is sadly in need of attention. The system was installed about eighteen months ago. On a small scale it is much like the system in operation in Los Angeles. As far as its actual working is concerned, it still seems to be in good condition, but the fire-alarm boxes, which were originally a brilliant red, are now so rusted and discolored that a Los Angeles fireman would scarcely know one if he were to see it. The City Trustees have made scant provision for the care of the system since it was installed.

The Santa Monica Commercial Company's Bank has notified the city authorities of its readiness to deliver $33,555 in payment for the sewer bonds. The bonds are being signed and otherwise made ready for delivery to-day. The Oakland Bank of Savings is the purchaser.

One Captain Who Wears no Southern Pacific Collar.

SAN PEDRO, Oct. 1.—[Regular Correspondence.] The British ship Ainsdale, Capt. A. Hasler, 155 days out from Swansea, arrived at this port early this morning. The vessel has a cargo of 3800 tons of coal for the Southern Pacific Company. She was chartered for Port Los Angeles. The captain contends that San Pedro is a port of Los Angeles and insists that he fulfilled the contract when he dropped anchor here. He says the shipping directory which he has (an issue of 1896) does not tell of any place for a vessel to land at Santa Monica. According to the information he had when he started on the passage, there was no wharf at Santa Monica, the old one in front of that place having been washed away years ago. The captain said today that if the Southern Pacific people want his ship to come to Santa Monica they may come after it and tow it to that place. He declares he has done his part already.

From lat. 50 S. down around Cape Horn and up to that same parallel, heavy westerly gales were encountered. Eight sails, including one foresail and a number of topsails, were, carried away, One member of the crew died on the passage. Few bessels were sighted. No floating ice was seen. Health Officer Weldon inspected the vessel today. She will probably be towed to Port Los Angeles within a day or two if the Southern Pacific functionaries care sufficiently about the cargo to come after it.

ments in the naneas corpus processings in the case of J. F. Milner, charged with the killing of S. J. Darrah.

Milner was represented by John G. North, Esq., who made a masterly presentation of his client's case. Mr. North spoke for nearly two hours, during which time he critically reviewed the testimony taken at the coroner's inquest and at the preliminary hearing, which has been previously outlined in these columns. Mr. North's arguments went to show that the testimony does not prove that the crime specified, nod that any public offense, has been committed by the prisoner, who, he alleged, acted in self-defense. He further contended that the Banning Justice exceeded his authority in committing Milner to juil without ball. The prosecution was represented by Dist. Atty. Gill and R. E. Bledsoe, Esq., of San Bernardino, each of whom argued on the other side of the case. Mr. North said this proceeding was not an attempt to prevent a trial of the case by jury, but was strictly a habeas corpus proceeding. The hearing was continued until Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. The wife and three-year-old child of the prisoner were present in the courtroom during the proceedings. RIVERSIDE BREVITIES.

BURGLARS RANSACK FIVE HOUSES IN SANTA ANA.

SANTA ANA, Oct. 1 .- [Regular Correspond

SANTA ANA, Oct. 1.—[Regular Correspondence.] House-breakers tried their luck on five different residences in this city yesterday, and in three they succeeded in securing booty of small value. The work is believed to be that of professional "lifters," who are following in the wake of the circus which exhibited here yesterday,

In the afternoon the houses of Theo Hays and John Garner were entered, and a watch and other articles of jewelry were taken from each. The search in each of the houses was hasty, as shown by the manner in which everything was turned upside down.

On returning home with his family at 9:30 o'clock, H. R. Bristol found his house brilliantly illuminated from top to bottom. The gas had been lighted in every room and the entire house had been rummaged by the thieves. A gold watch and a goodly supply of clothing were stolen from Mr. Bristol.

The houses of Fred Rafferty and C. J. Overshiner were also broken into, but so far no losses have been reported.

Torses have been reported.

YORBA ESTATE SETTLED.

There was a clash of attorneys in the Superior Court this (Friday) morning, when the matter of appointing an administrator of the estate of Thomas Yorba was brought up. Two weeks ago Felipe Yorba resigned as administrator, and joined with his brothers, Vicente and Theodosia, and with the other heirs, in asking for the appointment of Francisco Sanchez of Los Angeles in his stead. The petition was set for hearing today. Subsequent to this action, Vicente Yorba, through J. N. Anderson, Esq., filed a petition objecting to the appointment of Sanchez, and asking that letters be directed to issue to him as the oldest surviving brother of the deceased.

When the case was called today Attorney Anderson presented the petition of his client and was answered by Attorney George D. Blake of Los Angeles, who, as the representative of Sanchez, claimed that his (Anderson) action was entirely without authority, that Vicente Yorba favored the appointment of Sanchez, and that he had given no one authority to present a claim in his own behalf. To substantiate this postition Vicente Yorba himself was put on the stand, and testified that he had not desired the appointment. For a while there was prospect of a pitched battle, as the attorneys glared at each other, but Judge Ballard stopped hostilities by granting the petition of Sanchez without further proceeding. The bond of Sanchez as administrator was fixed at $40,000.

Len Federman, the keeper of a livery stable at Long Beach, was in Santa Ana today (Friday) having in his possesison a horse which had-been stolen from him about three months ago, and which he just now recovered from a rancher near Tustin. The horse was hired from his stable at Long Beach ostensibly to be driven to Redondo. Instead team was taken to Los Angeles where the horse was disposed of and the wagon hidden in an old unused lumber yard. Subsequently the horse was traded to a farmer east of Tustin.

in an old unused lumber yard. Subsequently the horse was traded to a farmer east of Tustin.

The horse was located through a man who came to Mr. Federman and offered to put him on the track of the animal in consideration of the payment of $5. This Mr. Federman pâid and was told where the horse might be found. It now transpires that the man who thus sold the secret is the same man who made the trade that brought the horse into the possession of the Tustin rancher. The transaction bears such a striking resemblance to the manner in which W. N. Tedford's horses were disposed of in San Diego that Sheriff Nichols is inclined to believe that the same man is responsible for both. He believes that Butler, who is charged with stealing the Tedford horses, also committed this robbery.

BURGLAR BARLOW CONVICTED.

The jury in the case of Herbert Barlow, who was tried yesterday on a charge of burglary, brought in a verdict at a late hour last evening finding Barlow guilty of burglary in the second degree. Sentence will be passed next Friday.

Sheriff Nichols has received a communication from the Sheriff of San Diego county stating that Barlow is the same man who was arrested Chere on April 27 for stealing a number of diamonds from Mrs. Keating, by whom he was employed. Barlow promised to recover the jewels for the owner as a condition of release, and the diamonds were found sewed in the lining of his coat. The case against him was accordingly dismissed, as the parties from whom the diamonds were stolen shunned the notoriety that a prosecution would entail. Barlow came to this city soon after this and was arrested on July 14 for robbing the house of H. K. Snow at Tustin.

AN INCIDENT AT THE CITY HOSPITAL.

A Woman's Life Barely Saved by a Critical Operation—Her Health

There was a hurry call for the ambulance of the City Hospital. In the course of an hour a very sick young woman was brought in on a stretcher. She was pale as death and evidently suffering keen agony. There was a hasty exam ination and a consultation. In less than a quarter of an hour the poor creater quarter of an hour the poor creature was on the operating table to undergo the operation called ovariotomy. There was no time for the usual preparation. Her left ovary was on the point of bursting; when it was removed, it literally disintegrated. If it had burst before removal, she stantly! That young woman had had warnings enough in the terrible pains, the burning sensation, the swelling low down on her left side. No one advised her, so she suffered tortures and nearly lost her life. I wish I had met her months before, so I could have told her of the virtues of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. As it is now, she is a wreck of a woman. Oh, my sisters, if you will not tell a doctor your troubles, do tell them to a woman who stands ever ready to relieve you! Write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., confide freely to her all your troubles, and she will advise you free of charge; and if you have any of the above symptoms take the advice of Miss Agnes Tracy, who speaks from experience and says:

"For three years I had suffered with inflammation of the left ovary, which caused dreadful pains. I was so badly affected that I had to sleep with pillows under my side, and then the pain was so great it was impossible to rest. "Every month I was in bed for two or three days. I took seven bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vege table Compound, and am entirely cured. Ithink there is no medicine to be compared with the Compound for female diseases. Every woman who suffers from any form of female weakness should try it at once." Miss Agnes Tracy, Box 432, Valley City, N. D.

This stock must be sold. We could use the whole newspaper to enumerate the thousand and one bargains that this sale will offer. Suffice it to say that as it is A FORCED SALE, the public will surely get the benefit. The Creditors will take what it brings. The quicker the stock is sold the less expense there will be, and in order to save any expense all goods will go cheap. It will pay anybody to come here if it takes a hundred miles' travel to get here.
